

General Informations:

- According to the recent planning of the FIE there should be one World Cup competition (probably in Tallinn) at the end of November, which is going to be finally decided in September. However the realistic chance for this WC to be organized is quite small, we have to take it into the planning as long as it is not officially decided. So the renewed plan contains this competition written with italic and at the moment when the FIE gives out new official informations we are going to adopt them and renew our schedule. It seems now that the National part of the planning can take place as it stands under. In case if the WC in Tallinn will be organized we will try to find alternative solutions before this date for qualification (test competition etc...)
- The German Championships will take place at the end of November and will count to the National Ranking list, as it will replace the German Championships from the past season. The QB Competition in December also will give points and will replace the first National QB competition of the formal season (Frankfurt)
- The points from Stockholm and Split SAT WC will remain on the ranking list as long as we can not find any international competition to replace them. According to the EFC or FIE calendar we will try to find competitions like this during the season, but at the moment it is not possible – again if the changes are coming, the new program will be communicated as soon as possible.
- Similar to the season 2019/2020 for the nomination to any World Cups there has to be certain amount of points gathered on the National QB competitions of the current season. The concrete amount of points and the further details about this will also be precisely communicated when the final competition calendar is ready (in case if there are some international competitions for qualification which are possible to be added to the calendar)
- The different positions of the National Team is going to be supervised and if necessary changed during the season according to the attendance on the Central Trainings and Training Camps.
- The regular Leistungsdiagnostik tests are still compulsory for athletes in the National Team and it has to be done at the OSP in Köln by Dr. Argiris Vassiliadis.
- The nomination criteria for the international competitions and season highlights are not changed from the last season (except the one above which will be communicated in details when we have the international planning)
